The aim is to increase the number of persons/entities following IGIDR activities and events. [Action: Registrar]
3. In continuation of (2) above, the need for employing a dedicated communication officer was suggested. However, a detailed assessment needs to be made as to whether such a position is required. It was suggested that an assessment of requirements for academic and non-academic staff can be made in general for the period 2023-25. [Action: Registrar]
4. Concerning the ATR of Agenda Item 1d of Meeting No. III of drawing up an SOP for the start to conclusion of any IGIDR event, the coordinator informed that the SOP will be put together after taking inputs from the administration on the procedures involved in conducting an event. Agenda Item 2: Round up of IGIDR activities for the period July 16, 2022 to November 9, 2022.

The IQAC coordinator informed the Committee members about the IGIDR activities held during the period November 10, 2022 to December 06, 2022.

Agenda Item 3: Discussion of gaps in NAAC recommended activities in order to draw up strategies to bridge the gaps and identify specific areas of thrust in the coming year that can positively impact NAAC assessment.

The IQAC coordinator made a presentation on the way forward for NAAC recommended activities of the Institute and to prepare for the upcoming cycle of assessment in the year 2023. To contextualize the presentation, she mentioned that based on the last NAAC assessment as well as the subsequent Annual Quality Assurance Reports (AQARs) submitted, the IQAC Secretariat initiated at the time of submission of AQAR 2020-21, the process of identifying existing gaps in activities and documentation in NAAC recommended quality parameters and drawing up plans to bridge the gaps to the extent possible in the short to medium run. The identification exercise was conducted with reference to the Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) For Data Validation and Verification of General Universities updated as on 01-01-2021 published by NAAC and the NAAC Manual for Self-Study Report for Universities. The coordinator emphasised that the Institute is largely meeting the NAAC requirements but there is definite scope for improvement and coverage; the identification exercise was not only to find out existing gaps with regard to the SOPs, but also in stepping up existing activities and documentation in line with all NAAC recommendations.

The presentation by the coordinator highlighted the seven of criteria of NAAC accreditation and assessment, namely (1) curricular aspects (2) teaching learning and evaluation (3) research, consultancy and extension (4) infrastructure and learning resources (5) student support and progression (6) governance, leadership and management, and (7) institutional values and best practices. For each of this criterion, the gap identification exercise entailed listing out areas where improvement in documentation of activities as per NAAC requirements was needed and where new activities/processes needed to be introduced or existing ones needed to be stepped up.

Overall, the exercise created four areas of modifications and/or additions, namely (i) activities/processes (ii) documentation (iii) policy/strategy, and (iv) systems.

Along with the general discussion of the points brought out by the presentation, the following suggestions were made and decisions were taken:

1. It is important to examine the gaps in the existing system with respect to each criterion and work backwards to close the gaps and be in compliance.
2. Curricular aspects: Seek information from faculty members on course revision in percentage terms. Course revision, existing courses and introduction of new courses may be included in academic council meeting agenda for information as per NAAC requirement. Faculty members can be asked to specifically list course outcomes in their respective course outline along with highlighting the employability/entrepreneurship /skill development in course outcomes.
3. Promotion of Research and Facilities: The institution provides Professional Development Scheme to its faculty members for research related activities but it is not considered as seed money for research. This matter need to be taken up by appropriate authorities.
4. The Institute also needs to be proactive on e-content development.
5. Quality workshops can be undertaken for faculty, staff and students.
6. Governance, Leadership and Management: Mission and vision documents can be reviewed, signed and saved in a centralised repository.
7. The Institute can consider faculty development programs in consultation with faculty. The Dean of Faculty can look into this matter.
8. The core decision emerging out of the presentation and its discussion was that in order to maximize compliance with the NAAC criteria and to institutionalise and attain quality excellence, teams need to be constituted at the Institute with faculty and staff members and students where applicable. The Terms of Reference of the teams would be to take steps to operationalize and implement NAAC recommended activities laid down in the AQARs and the Self Study Report. A total of seven core teams are to be formed, one for each NAAC criterion with each team having a coordinator. All teams will work in coordination with the IQAC Secretariat.
