Educational qualification

Doctoral degree (in Economics), and Master of Philosophy (in Applied Economics) from the Centre for Development Studies, Trivandrum, India, with the degrees awarded by the Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi in 1989 and 1980 respectively.

The doctoral thesis is on Sub-contracting in Indian Manufacturing Industries: The Bangalore Experience. It is a fieldwork-based dissertation seeking to explain the outsourcing behaviour of 3 large machinery manufacturers in the city.

Work experience

1. Visiting Professor, Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University, New Jersey, US, February to June in 2007 and in 2008.
2. Visiting Professor, Hosei University, Tokyo, April 2001 to March 2002.
3. Visiting Fellow, Centre for International Studies, Princeton University, New Jersey, US, August 1994 to August 1995.
4. Assistant Professor, Institute of Public Enterprise, Hyderabad, March 1985 to May 1992.

Teaching experience

- In the graduate programme at IGIDR:
 - A one semester compulsory course on Indian Economy, since 2005, and
 - A one semester compulsory course on “Issues in Development Policy”, during 1992-2004, (jointly with Professor Kirit Parikh in many years).

- Taught a one-semester course on Indian Economic Development for senior undergraduate and graduate students at the Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University, for two years, in 2007 and 2008.
- Taught two courses in Development Economics, and one course in Comparative Economic Development for undergraduate and graduate students in Hosei University, Tokyo, during the academic year 2001-02.
- I often lecture in many universities and teaching programmes within the country. Most recently, I have been teaching at the Centre for Development Studies, Trivandrum in their M Phil programme in applied economics.
- Earlier, at the Institute of Public Enterprise, Hyderabad, I have taught Macroeconomics (national accounts), Development Economics, Public Sector in Economic Development, Industrial Economy of India, in Business Management programme, and Masters and Graduate programmes in economics.
- I have designed and conducted training programmes for senior civil servants on Policy Planning and Analysis (with a particular focus on India's macroeconomic policy, and industrial performance).

Policy related work

- Head of a working group on Index of Industrial Production set up by the CSO, New Delhi, 2011-12.
- Member, Planning Commission working group for the 12th Plan on savings.
- Member, Standing Committee on Industrial Statistics, Central Statistical Organisation, New Delhi, 2008-12.
- Member, Statistical Advisory Group, Department of Statistics, Reserve Bank of India, Mumbai, 2002-04.
- I have worked for the National Statistical Commission on examining the ways to improve the quality of India's industrial statistics.
- I was a member of the Planning Commission's working group on Employment for the 9th Plan.
- I headed a working group on 'decentralised planning' in Kerala Government in 1996-97.
- In 1987, I did most of the background work for the Economic Advisory Council's (Chairman: late Professor Sukhamoy Chakravarty) report on Public Sector Enterprises.
- For the Andhra Pradesh Government, I had conducted an evaluation of a state level target-oriented employment generation programme.

- I was a BICP consultant, for its project on auto ancillary industry, in 1988-89.
